AMOSKEAG MILLS ARRAIGNED

Catholic Priest Said Some Things at Mass on Sunday

Rev. John J. Lyons, P. R., pastor of St. Anne's Roman Catholic church at Manchester, severely arraigned the Amoskeag Manufacturing company in the church at all the masses on Sunday.

It came in the course of an exhortation to the people to rally to the support of the Sisters of Mercy in the matter of paying for their new convent and boarding school at Hooksett, for which the bishop and his council have authorized a collection in all the English-speaking churches of the state on Sunday, June 20.

He reminded his congregation that, although they were frequently called upon by the sisters to help them, it was always for the orphans, or for the sick, or friendless old women, or old men, or the abandoned children of the city, but never for themselves.

He spoke of Bishop Bradley, one of their boys, as the first citizen of Manchester of his generation, and a man who did more than any individual many times over for the civic betterment of the community; and he referred to the Rev. William McDonald, first pastor of St. Anne's, as the first citizen of all time of the city of Manchester and as the man who really laid the foundation upon which the moral structure of the city is built, not the least part of which is the Order of Mercy which he brought to Manchester and installed in the home they now occupy, fifty years ago this month. Then he added:

"There are no rich corporations upon which they may call for $25,000 donations. The Amoskeag corporation directors, who meet from time to time in Boston to plan for dividends of a half million, or a million, or a million and a half, at the annual meeting of stockholders, will not give $25,000 or $2500 to religions, who, without expectation or hope of material reward, are giving their lives to the civic betterment of our city and its moral uplift, in the training of its youth and the caring for the friendless, the helpless and the distressed. Such benefits as are to be derived from membership in the Y. M. C. A. are necessarily limited in scope. Besides it is a sectarian society. An organization which, while inviting Catholics to membership, excludes them from a vote and voice in its government, cannot lay any just claim to non-sectarianism.

"In my twenty-six years' pastorate in Manchester, I have failed to observe that the Amoskeag corporation has made any effort looking to the betterment of the operatives who have created its wealth. It has, apparently in recent years, adopted the policy of bringing in a horde of semi-civilized people from southern Europe of the class, designated by President Roosevelt as 'undesirable citizens,' to lower the wage scale of the people, who for generations have been its faithful employees. I trust it will use these people into the organization, and improve their morals, and make of them as good citizens as their old employees.

"A corporation which keeps in view the best interests of the city, should with its great earning capacity, pay a higher scale of wages to its operatives, instead of appearing frequently before the tax commission seeking a reduction in assessments, by which the citizens are made to bear more than an equal share of the public burden.

"It is the general belief of this community, which seems justified by the facts, that in our political life this corporation exercises an influence out of proportion to its local interests, and detrimental to the principal of local self government.

"It is rightly or otherwise generally accepted that the seat of local government is in the Amoskeag counting room rather than at city hall. This deplorable condition will continue until the people of Manchester, in the

NEW CASTLE LAND CASE GOES OVER FOR A WHILE

Other Business Transacted Today in the United States Court

The New Castle land case which has been before the courts for some time past, was put over at the session of the United States circuit court in this city today.

The case is one arising out of the demand of the War Department for certain land at New Castle for the purpose of a military post for the three forts in the harbor. The land required takes in the entire estate of the late Jacob Wendell on the harbor front, and the family refusing to sell to the government, it was ordered condemned and taken. The town of New Castle opposed the taking of the property on the ground that it was removing from the taxable property of the town too much land and that the fact that the establishing of a military post in the very heart of the best summer property would so decrease the valuation of the other land that they would fall off in tax were overruled by the United States Court and then the town asked to be made a party in the action on the ground that the old State road which runs along the beach from Fort Constitution was a part of the land condemned. The town maintained that this old road, long disused, ran from Fort Constitution to Rosebury, and that the Wendell estate had in the past removed the existing boundaries and made it a part of their land.

The court ruled that this was an important matter, the closing of a road, and it allowed the town's motion to become a party, and also ordered that the facts of the case be tried by a jury.

When the case was called in the court today it was announced that the United States had instructed its attorney to ask for a continuance. The petition has been dismissed without prejudice, subject to motion to be restored upon payment of counsel fees and costs at this term to the respondent.

The Bartlett counterfeit money cases were brought up. These were the cases where some counterfeit money was picked up in Civil war time and kept many years in the home of Mark W. Pierce. They were found and some of them got into circulation last year, and William Swett, who had lived in the Pierce home was charged with the offense. Swett pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced to $10 fine and six months in jail. Swett claims that he did not know the money was counterfeit.

Pierce is eighty-three years old and was forty years postmaster at Glen, and has been a respected citizen. He pleaded guilty to having counterfeit money in his possession and the charges of circulating it and intending to circulate it were not pressed. His case was placed on file.

The other matters will come up later.

The case of Daisy Valencia of Lebanon vs. Atlantic Shore line railway for damages sustained will come up on Wednesday morning.

Judge William L. Putnam of Portland is presiding. The United States court officials for the district of New Hampshire are present, Clerk Burns E. Hodgman, District Attorney C. W. Holt, and Marshal E. P. Nute. The foreman of the first jury is L. S. Perley of Laconia and of the second jury, E. P. Wilson of Peterborough.

Among the interested spectators was Col. Adams T. Pierce of Dover, former United States district marshal, who was invited by the court to assist in the opening ceremonies.

COURT CALLS IT AN ESSAY

Dewey Reads a Long Statement to Jurors

FOUR DIVISIONS OF LAW

Former Judge Tells That They Are Made by God, Angels, Nature and Man—Continued Legal Contest With Judge—Plaintiff Becomes Own Witness and Is Requested to Ask Himself Questions and Reply

Boston, June 8.—Unusual incidents continued Monday in the trial of the libel suit of former Judge Henry S. Dewey against certain officials of the Good Government association, in which the damages are placed at $75,000, on the ground that Dewey was libelled in the mayoralty campaign of 1905.

Monday, in the course of the trial which Dewey is conducting in his own behalf, a long statement, which the court declared was an essay, was read to the jury by the consent of the defense and was found to contain Dewey's opinions on Plato, Cicero, poetry, rhetoric, music, politics, religion, weather, stars, and the unwritten law. The paper was entitled: "The Work of a Police Court Justice."

Mr. Dewey in this essay divided law into four parts, the law of God, which he said was the eternal; the law made by the angels, or the celestial law; the law of the inanimate, or the law of nature, and the law made for man.

A dozen witnesses were called during the day, but as many of the questions asked by Dewey were excluded, very little evidence reached the jury. In fact the trial was a continual legal contest between Dewey and Judge Sherman, who presided, questions being ruled out and exceptions taken in each case.

Mr. Dewey himself was sworn. He went on to tell of his early history and of the connections of his family. He said that he was born in Hanover, N. H., Nov. 9, 1856. His father was a merchant there and was at one time a partner of Levi P. Morton. He said that his father was always active in the Republican party and was a Congregationalist. He said that his first recollection of the outside world was in being at the postoffice in Hanover and hearing that Fort Sumpter had been fired upon.

At this point Attorney McClennen objected to the line of testimony as not material. He thought that Dewey should ask himself questions and then reply, as that was the only way counsel for the defense could tell in advance what the testimony would be.

"If asked to rule on the question whether the testimony is material, I should say that it is not," Judge Sherman said. "None of it is of any consequence. Whether one is born of first-class parents or mean ones, he would be in the same position in court. All persons stand on the same level in court."

Judge Sherman then referred to the request that Dewey ask himself questions and then reply, which Dewey proceeded to do.

SKIPPED TO MONTREAL

Mexican Leaves Property Worth $12,120 in Customs Officers' Hands

New York, June 8.—The customs authorities of this port have on their hands a diamond collar and bracelet appraised at $12,120 which the owner apparently did not value sufficiently to claim. The jewelry was seized on April 24 when Celso Del Villar, a wealthy Mexican, who had arrived here in company with a Mexican actress, failed to declare it.

A special agent of the treasury department, armed with a warrant, was looking for Del Villar Monday to learn why, on the testimony of his companion that she was not his wife, he should not be deported. The agent and two inspectors traced Del Villar to the Grand Central station, where it was learned that he had bought two tickets for Montreal.

COMING WITH A RUSH

Iron and Steel Men Predict a Great Wave of Prosperity

Pittsburg, June 8.—From a canvass made of the principal iron and steel manufacturers, it is apparent that a wave of prosperity, equal to any experienced in this country, is about to take place.

The recent stagnation in the iron and steel business is described as the "little industrial rest." From a majority of the interviews secured here the fear is expressed that wants in the iron and steel business will return with such a rush as to cause congestion.

Constance, June 8.—Murid Day, editor of Mizan, has been sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor for participation in the revolutionary movement of April 13.

Asquith Portrait Defaced
London, June 8.—A portrait of Premier Asquith, one of the features of the Royal academy, was defaced by the pasting across it of the familiar legend "Vote for women."

MANGLED BY ELEVATOR

Fate of Young Woman Who Rode in One For First Time

New York, June 8.—On her first visit to New York and her first ride in an elevator Miss Lena Schoenmaker, 13 years old, one of a party of sightseers from Kingston, chaperoned by Mrs. Charles M. Hall, was crushed to death when her head was caught between the floor of the elevator and the sixth floor of the Flatiron building.

Four of the girls with Mrs. Hall went shopping and visited the eighth floor of the Flatiron building. When they started to descend in the elevator, Lena fell forward in a faint, her head near the door of the car. The operator, who had seen a signal light burning at the sixth floor for a stop as he dropped down, threw over the controlling lever.

The car stopped with a bounce and started up again. As it did so the head of the prostrate girl rolled over the edge of the car and the protruding ledge of the sixth floor caught and crushed her skull, broke her neck and crushed in her chest. She died instantly.

The elevator boy was placed under arrest under a technical charge of homicide. Arraigned before the coroner, he was held in $5000 bail for the inquest.

THE WINSLOW AGROUND

Second Accident Within Few Days to the Torpedo Boat

Morehead City, N. C., June 8.—On her way to sea from Beaufort, where she was towed with her engines disabled Sunday, the torpedo boat Winslow, with Massachusetts naval reserves aboard, ran aground in the harbor here last evening. The boat is stuck so fast that all efforts to get her off have so far proved unsuccessful.

The Winslow is aground on a sandbar at a point about two miles from the inlet. The sound is sandlocked and neither the vessel nor those aboard her are in any danger.

DUFFY QUESTIONED

BY MCLELLAN

Evidence Tending to Show Police to Be in the Wrong

New York, June 8.—George B. Duffy, the Brooklyn youth over whose arrest and photographing for the Rogues' Gallery Justice Gaynor and Police Commissioner Bingham are at odds, was questioned by Mayor McClellan in an effort to establish whether or not any justification exists for preserving in the police records the boy's likeness, pedigree, measurements and antecedents.

The pastor of the church attended by Duffy, his parents, his employers, both past and present, and a number of neighbors who have known him all his life, testified in support of the claim advanced by Gaynor that the boy was victim of police persecution. He was represented as an honest boy, efficient in his work, steady in his religious observances and with an enviable record as a life-saver.

Mayor McClellan reserved decision.

TAR AND FEATHERS

They Are Applied to a Woman, While Man Is Beaten

Pittsburg, June 8.—Having been taken forcibly from a house in West Pike township by fifteen men, Mollie Ridge was stripped of clothing, covered with tar and feathers and thrown into Pike run, while H. O. Wright, found in the home of the woman, was also stripped, beaten and thrown into the same stream.

Wright and the woman appeared before Justice of the Peace McKean and made information against two brothers and a cousin of the male victim. The charge is aggravated assault and battery and malicious mischief.

It is said the woman has been warned to leave the neighborhood a number of times and when she refused the drastic action resulted.

At midnight last night five persons were arrested in connection with the tarring and feathering of Mollie Ridge and the beating of Wright. All were held in $3000 bail for a hearing today.

PRESCUE ISLE HOMES BURNED

Hundred Reduced to Ashes by Conflagration

QUICKLY SPREAD BY WIND

Had Its Origin in Kitchen of Boarding House—Blazing Embers Carried Long Distance, Finding Ready Material in Dry Shingled Roofs—Quarter of Village Destroyed, the Loss Reaching About $300,000

Presque Isle, Me., June 8.—Fire swept an area of fully one-quarter of the village last night, burning 100 dwelling houses, ten potato storehouses, the Canadian Pacific railway freight station, the Congregational church, Massoule hall and causing a loss estimated conservatively at $300,000.

The residences burned included some of the best in the village, although the greater number were of the poorer sort. Upwards of a thousand people are homeless.

A high wind which prevailed all day is responsible largely for the extent of the disaster. It carried blazing embers a distance of a quarter of a mile in many cases and now fires quickly started in many places after the first fire was well under way.

All the burned buildings were of frame construction and although they were not very close together, their shingled roofs were easily ignited by the showers of sparks.

Steamers and volunteer fire companies from Houlton and Fort Fairfield assisted the local firemen with their hydrant service, but even with this aid the blaze could not be said to be fairly under control until the wind had died down after all the northeastern part of the town had been leveled and the flames had reached the woods and farming country.

The fire broke out in the kitchen of John Brown's boarding house on North Main street and it was seven hours before the work of destruction was finished. The burned section covers an area of half a square mile.

From the boarding house the flames communicated to the Congregational church and from that time it was entirely beyond control, the wind making the hydrant streams practically useless.

Several persons were injured in various ways during the fire, but there were no fatalities. Miss Ethel Scott was injured in an automobile collision while assisting the fire sufferers. She was thrown from her machine, suffering severe contusions and possibly internal injuries.

Every able-bodied man in the village turned out to assist in fighting the flames. All the stores and all the factories closed their doors and proprietors, clerks and operatives worked together to save property and assist the unfortunate.

The town was in darkness after midnight because of interruption of electric light circuits.

SHOT AT BALLOON

Kentucky People Did Not Know Nature of Object High in Air

Nashville, June 8.—The Indianapolis, one of the balloons that started from Indianapolis, landed within two miles of Westmoreland, and the aeronauts, R. J. Irwin and Goethe Link, with their balloon, went to Gallatin, where they took a train for Indianapolis. Before leaving Link said:

"We were forced to fly more than two miles high over most of Kentucky, as many people, not knowing what the balloon was, repeatedly shot at it and bullets whizzed around the ears of the aeronauts, causing us to hastily ascend."

"A safe landing was made ten miles south of the Kentucky line. At first people seemed afraid to take hold of the balloon but after realizing the situation, were kind and rendered us all assistance possible."

CRUSHED BY ICEBERG

Crew of Wrecked Schooner Safely Made Way Through Ice Fields

St. John's, June 8.—A collision with an iceberg fifty miles off shore sent the schooner Geisha to the bottom. The schooner had previously collided with another ice-pillar, and when the second struck their vessel the crew of six men had their boats in readiness and lowered them.

Fifty miles away was St. John's harbor, between which lay a pack of ice, not solid, but possible of dangerous navigation. The crew managed to reach here without mishap.

New York, June 8.—Mary McNamara, a telephone operator in the Jersey City offices of Swift & Co., the packers, caught her pompadour in the whirling blades of an electric fan and was almost completely scalped.

France Planning Big Navy
Paris, June 8.—The naval program approved by the cabinet involves an expenditure of $600,000,000, covering a period of ten years. Twelve battleships and four armored cruisers are included in the estimates.

BACON TO BECOME AN AMBASSADOR

Will Succeed White as Our Representative in France

Paris, June 8.—Private advices received here from Washington say that Robert Bacon, ex-secretary of state, has accepted the ambassadorship to France and that he will succeed Henry White at the end of the year.

ROBERT BACON.

According to these advices, Bacon, when he was first offered the post, declined to accept it, preferring that White should be retained as ambassador, but, finding that President Taft was resolved in any event to replace White, he finally agreed to accept the position.

ENCOUNTER WITH BURGLAR

Bullets From Funston's Revolver Failed to Bring Down Intruder

Leavenworth, Kan., June 8.—Brigadier General Funston, commandant of the army service schools at Fort Leavenworth, engaged in a revolver fight with a supposed burglar in his quarters at the post. The man escaped and Funston was unharmed.

General Funston had gone to bed late. He lay awake in bed for an hour. Then a closet door opened and a man stepped forth. Funston saw him and reached under his pillow for a revolver. The intruder saw the motion and fired. The bullet plucked the mattress near Funston, who leaped to his feet. He fired three shots at the man fled.

CHINESE "PICNIC" IN 1906

Turned Out to Have Been Carefully Organized Scheme For Landing Mongolians at Marblehead and Transporting Them to Boston—Accused Man a Prominent Merchant and Only Chinese Notary Public in the Country

Boston, June 8.—The campaign of the government inspectors to end the smuggling of Chinese into this country in the vicinity of Boston, where it has been said to have flourished for many years, resulted last night in the arrest of Chin Shue, a prominent Chinese merchant of the city and the only notary public of that race in this country.

The warrant upon which officers arrested Chin Shue charged him with "conspiracy to defraud the United States government in illegally smuggling Chinamen into the country."

It is understood that the specific case against him is connected with the landing of nearly two score of Chinamen at Marblehead on Aug. 24, 1906. Chin Shue is alleged to have purchased the railroad tickets for the transportation of the Chinamen from Marblehead to Boston. Chin Shue spent last night in Charles street jail, unable to furnish bonds of $5000.

Until the trials growing out of the capture of the schooner Frolic at Providence a few years ago, when she had landed a cargo of Orientals, no correct explanation had been made of the gathering in the town of Marblehead on Aug. 24, 1906, of nearly two score of Chinamen.

During the trial, however, the hitherto supposed picnic was shown to have been a carefully organized smuggling party and the picknickers were Chinamen who had never before set foot in this country.

"NOT IN PROPRIA PERSONA"

How Mrs. Eddy Attended Meeting of Her Church Board

Boston, June 8.—The board of directors of the mother church of Christian Science elected William P. McKenzie as president, Stephen A. Chase as treasurer, and John V. Dittmore as clerk, the latter succeeding William B. Johnson, who resigned.

The following letter was received from Mrs. Eddy, addressed to the board of directors:

"Beloved Students: I thank you for your kind invitation to be present at the annual meeting of the mother church on June 7, 1909. I will attend the meeting, but not in propria persona. Watch and pray that God direct your meetings and your lives, and your leader will then be sure that they are blessed in their results. Lovingly yours, Mary Baker Eddy."

REDUCE USE OF ROD

Man of Experience Tells How to Handle Delinquent Children

Buffalo, June 8.—A feature of the sixth annual conference on the education of backward, truant and delinquent children was the time devoted to discussion rather than the reading of papers.

James A. Barnett, a cottage officer in the national training school for boys at Washington, after an address, was the target for a volley of questions for over half an hour.

"A man who maintains discipline through fear is a dismal failure," declared Barnett. "Reduce the use of the rod to the minimum. To bring out the very best there is in a lad trust him and don't institutionalize him."

Mr. Barnett condemned the solitary confinement of boys in unmeasured terms.

Washington, June 8.—The house of representatives passed the Porto Rican bill providing that whenever the legislature shall fail to make the necessary appropriations for the ensuing fiscal year those for the current year shall be considered as in force and effect.

"CONTRACT PRACTICE"

Proposition Which Would Benefit Doctors and Their Clients

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—Each physician advocated "contract practice" by physicians before the American Academy of Medicine as a solution for the problem of securing proper medical attention for those who are at small cost.

The plan favors small monthly payments by the clients of the contracting physician, who is expected to attend them in case of illness without extra charge.

Dr. Benedict of Buffalo urged that under the present system the poor, unable to pay doctors' bills, often delay calling a physician until the disease is beyond easy cure. He said that the contract plan would also secure the doctor against loss by unpaid bills and guarantee the young physician a living income.

Dr. Henshaw of New York also advocated the new plan. Dr. Sheodon called contract practice "insurance against doctors' bills."

"FUNCTION OF RELIGION"

Professor Foster's Book Has Stirred Up the Clergy of Chicago

Chicago, June 8.—Professor George B. Foster of the University of Chicago, whose writings, denounced by some as "a bitter indictment of the Christian religion before the bar of skepticism," have harrowed the clergy of Chicago, was called upon at a meeting of Baptist preachers of Chicago by Rev. Johnstone Myers to withdraw from the Baptist ministry and to yield up his ordination papers.

This motion was put before several hundred preachers and laymen, gathered at the conference of the Baptist executive council, and only the objection of one man, Professor Parker, an instructor at the University of Chicago, prevented the eviction of the author of "The Function of Religion." Parker called attention to a constitutional provision, preventing action without a week's deliberation. The case, accordingly, was postponed until June 14.

ANTI-GAMBLING ELEMENT WINS

General Cleanup Anticipated at Narragansett Pier

Narragansett Pier, R. I., June 8.—The anti-gambling element in this town won a close election here, electing their entire ticket, headed by Harry D. Kane, by small margins.

This ticket, which was designated as the "People's Party" and had to take out nomination papers to secure a place on the ballot, was opposed by a fusion ticket of the Democrats and Republicans.

It is expected that sweeping action against the gambling interests in the town will be forthcoming soon. The matter has aroused much attention throughout the state.

SUFFRAGE NEWS BUREAU

Women Will See That Correct Versions of Doings Are Printed

New York, June 8.—Mrs. Carrie C. Catt, president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, returned on the Minnowaska from London, where she attended the woman's suffrage convention recently held there.

One of the hopeful developments of the recent conference, Mrs. Catt said, was the organization of a great international suffrage news bureau. In the past it had happened that matters of importance to suffrage workers in one country were distorted when they appeared in print in another country and, because of lack of organization, it had often been found impossible to get the correct version printed. The international alliance hoped to correct this.

MADE BAD LOANS

Bank Cashier Did Not Profit Personally by His Transactions

Jackson, Mich., June 8.—Henry P. Fogelant, formerly cashier of the failed Springfield bank, who was arrested last December, charged with making false entries in his books and incorrect reports to the banking commission, was last evening discharged by order of the prosecuting attorney.

In the six months investigation the authorities have found that Fogelant did not profit personally by his transactions, but was unfortunate in making bad loans of the bank's funds. He has secured a position as a traveling man.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

Charles W. Kellogg, widely known throughout the insurance world of the country, died at his home in Brookline, Mass., aged 79.

A loss estimated at $20,000 was caused by a fire resulting from an explosion of chemicals in the jewelry manufacturing plant of Smith & Richardson at Attleboro, Mass.

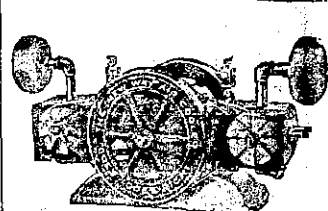

Public institutions and church organizations are benefited by the will of the late Mrs. Henry G. Russell of Providence in the amount of $323,000. Former United States Senator Joseph Simon, Republican, was elected mayor of Portland, Ore., to succeed Harry Lane, Democrat.

OUR NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

The leading and controlling note of the recent national administration is to be the establishment of a general regularity and of a systematized method of decision and administration in the different departments. So said Franklin MacVeagh of the United States treasury in his speech at the annual dinner of the Chicago Commercial club on Saturday night. Further he announced a policy of conciliation wherever possible, but with no "backsliding" from established principles.

The administration of President Taft, he declared, "will, as a matter of course, be a Taft administration, pure and simple, and as distinguishable from the Roosevelt administration as Roosevelt's was distinguishable from McKinley's."

He referred to the president's deference and respect for the formal privileges of the congress, "and what is more significant and interesting at present is not the actual noninterference but rather the fine disposition the president shows to respect all rights and to meet everybody halfway in the hope and interest of a homogeneous party of progress—a disposition which can only be interpreted as statesmanlike conciliation and which it would be a total mistake to consider as a change of actual policy or purpose."

As to the Roosevelt policies, Mr. MacVeagh said that they were safe in the hands of the present administration as they were in the hands of the last. "We are not hearing much about them," he said, "but that is partly because the president has his own way of arriving at results and because other issues are now associated with them in the activities at Washington, issues that before left to the Roosevelt policies the whole stage."

"But," he asserted, "it would be a radical error to think that the distinctive policies of the last administration will receive less attention or less devotion than is now needed for their complete and permanent establishment."

Upon the question of the tariff Mr. MacVeagh predicted that the revision would be such that the people would accept. The main point was to satisfy those of the middle west. "But if they are not made satisfied," he said, "then the tariff question will unfortunately not be out of the way, and we will not have rest, and we will not have a clear field for currency reform. What the people expect is what the protectionist republican party promised in its last year's platform as interpreted by its candidate for the presidency, and while it is talking against the wind to argue that the revision expected is not a revision down, it would be equally futile to say that the revision down was promised to be a revision down and out."

As the first general statement of policy from the administration, since it was organized three months ago, this utterance of Mr. MacVeagh is important, and we have quoted rather freely from the Associated press dispatches reporting it.

The unusual thing about it is the clear separation of the administrative work from the legislative tasks.

The administrative work is to comprise first of all a systematization of the departments, so as to avoid condicts of judgment and of authority, and incidentally to produce a higher efficiency. This is in line with suggestions in President Taft's inaugural address.

The legislative tasks are to be taken one at a time and the first of those is the tariff and commerce, while the second is banking and currency.

The policy for the second is not announced.

The policy for the first is simple. The administration has picked the middle west, that particular section which abounds both in agriculture and manufacturing, and also has great coal and mining interests, and said that there all departments of industrial activity are represented, and there are the people whose needs are the same as the needs of those specializing communities in other parts of the country. This is so simple and so accurate that it is a wonder that nobody thought of it before.

Secretary Jacob M. Dickinson of the war department was a guest at the same dinner with Mr. MacVeagh, and spoke briefly along the same lines. The principal address would, of course, be by the treasury department head, but the two were plainly in harmony with each other and with the administration as a whole.

Those speeches harmonize with the acts of the administration thus far, and ought to go a long way in the restoration of business confidence.

It looks pretty good for the interests of all the people in the country.

And not the least part of the good outlook comes from the fact that President Taft in his official family surrounded himself with men of the caliber of Mr. MacVeagh and Mr. Dickinson.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

One Republican View of Mr. Douglas
Mr. William L. Douglas of Brockton, former governor of Massachusetts and head of one of the largest shoe manufacturing establishments in the world, has written an open letter on the subject of the duty on hides. His views cannot be dismissed as those of the "doctrinaire" or "professor." He is an eminently practical man, who has made a fortune in business, and he knows perfectly well what he is talking about. Mr. Douglas declares that if the fifteen per cent duty on raw hides is continued a complete monopoly of the leather tanning and shoe manufacturing industries will be brought about within a few years. The nucleus of such a combination already exists in the beef trust, which practically controls the leather industry. "Such a trust," Mr. Douglas says, "is inevitable," providing the present duty of fifteen per cent remains on hides. The advantage given by this duty to the beef trust, as the original owners of hides, is so great that competition with it will be hopeless as soon as it can establish itself in the leather tanning and shoe manufacturing business.

There is no reason to doubt this assertion. The trusts have always been fostered by the tariff and always will be. Nor in the case of leather, is it the real producer who will be benefited. The wool grower and the woolen manufacturer stand together for duties on both the raw material and the manufactured article for the simple reason that both get the benefit of the duty. The producer of hides, on the other hand, is the farmer, and he is in the grip of the beef trust. It is no exaggeration to say that a duty on hides does not put a penny in his pocket; it all goes to the middleman—in other words, the beef packers. The pretence that such a duty is levied for his benefit is mere bumbling. On the contrary, it increases the price of the shoes he wears. Yet there are thousands of farmers who go on voting for protection under the impression that their prosperity depends upon it. They do not see that they should throw their influence upon the side of the shoe manufacturers rather than upon the side of the beef trust.

Nor is Mr. Douglas, at least, one of those manufacturers who demand free raw material along with duties on the manufactured product. "I am not afraid of free shoes," he says, "if I can have free hides and leather. I would gladly swap any doubtful benefit from the duty on shoes for the certain benefits of free hides and leather." That is to say, Mr. Douglas does not ask any odds in competition with the foreign manufacturer if he can meet him on even terms.

The singular thing is that so many American manufacturers are lacking in the energy and courage which are supposed to be part of the national equipment that they come crying to the government for aid. They are

Country
Safe

The business of the country is on a very substantial basis. All that is needed is a realization on the part of the farmers of the preparations for prosperity which have been so liberally made. There are now more acres under cultivation than ever before in the history of the country, and if we have favorable weather and corresponding large crops, I look for happy times. There will be a big burst of speculation and a rise in the price of everything, but these will quickly grade down from the top to whatever level the crops will make logical.

The time is ripe, however, for a warning as to the proper employment of idle money. We should be careful that this money be not devoted to the development of fake projects, but, on the contrary, used in the up-building of real undertakings resting upon solid foundations.

There was no necessity for the panic of 1907. That panic was directly caused by the extraordinary Landis decision and the general attitude prevailing at the time against the railroads and the corporations generally. It was a panic of sentiment—a disaster caused by the fear of something that did not happen. If frightened people into withdrawing their money from circulation.

ENLARGE LOCAL COMMERCE

Effect of the Schemes Now on the Way to Development

The article read before the Piscataqua Harbor, No. 83, on Tuesday evening, June 1, by Mr. O. L. Frisbee, will appear in the next number of the Masters, Mates' and Pilots' magazine of New York and the manufacturers' Record of Baltimore. The subject of the article is "New Hampshire and the Atlantic Coast Canal."

Mr. Frisbee shows that the Atlantic coast in connection with slack water navigation in Portsmouth, will give the million of people living in New Hampshire, Vermont and southwestern Maine cheap transportation. Not only to bring to them the raw material, but to carry from the mills the manufactured products. The people in this section demand it so that they can compete with other industrial centers. He shows the United States produces eighty per cent of the cotton of the world, but we have no advantage in the price of cotton. Cotton is delivered cheaper at the mills in Manchester, England, than we can deliver cotton to the mill in Manchester, New Hampshire. This is from cheaper transportation.

Nature has placed the abundant water power, and this excellent harbor to their mutual advantage. The Merrimac turns more mill machinery than any river in the world, and New Hampshire has the largest cotton and woolen industries of the world. Portsmouth is the nearest sea port to these industrial centers and all the raw material and finish products will come and go by this port, for commerce follows the course of the coarser of the least resistance. We can handle all their commodities, at less cost, less distance and at less time. The greatest development of New Hampshire, Vermont and western Maine depends on our greatest development.

BAKER BICYCLE FIVE

The prettiest quintette performance ever seen in an arena is the one given by the famous English Baker Quintette of expert fancy and trick bicycle riders. There are three men, two ladies and two little tots, who, while they ride, form beautiful tableaux, in which exquisitely handsome and costly costumes add to the general attractiveness, and appeal especially to the ladies and children in the audience. In contradistinction to the Bakers that are immediately followed by the Tramp Awheel. With a comic disdain for all the conventionalities he carries it into his riding as well as in his unshaven face and tattered habiliments. He rides up and down stairs, jumps with his wheel and while astride it from high places and rides away and he is also the only rider of the Giraffe bicycle with his saddle fifteen feet higher than his wheel. The Baker Quintettes are also skatetorial artists of wonderful ability. With the Frank A. Robbins Shows.

Will exhibit in Portsmouth on June 7.

MUSIC HALL

Charles Hughes and His Singing Girl
Make a Big Hit

The vaudeville and picture show at Music Hall this week opened to a large audience.

Charles Hughes and his singing girl, the feature act, made a great hit. The act opens in the parlor of a hotel with the male member of the team learning how to be a waiter. There are many funny situations and some very clever singing is introduced. The act is novel and refined and well merited the applause received.

Hal Stevens, an acrobat, does not do much, but what he does is good and he received a good hand for his effort.

Miss Leona Belasco, the new illustrated song singer, opened last night and certainly made good. She has a fine soprano voice and her songs suited her well. She was obliged to respond to an encore on both "My Irish Maid" and Andrew Mack's big hit, "O, You Girl."

The pictures include "The Bad Lands," feature western picture, "Caught on the Cliffs," "Daunted by His First Love," and "Objections Overcome" besides another feature reel, "Land of the Midnight Sun."

Baseball and Football Prospects at the Academy

Exeter, June 8.—The last meeting of the season of Exeter chapter of the D. A. R. was held this evening with Mrs. N. W. Helms. A large representation of the members was present, and an interesting programme carried out. Papers were read by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins on "John Andre's Fate" and Mrs. Winnifred Perkins on "Historic Towns on the Hudson River."

Of the men who played in Saturday's game, there will be lost to the academy by graduation this year Lewis, Jones, Borchardt and Murray, and also Captain Baines. It is probable that the captaincy will next year fall to Dana Wingate, who has acquitted himself as a model schoolboy ball player in all games played this year. The game has done much to put Exeter and Andover into more even competition again, as the contests were going regularly to Andover. Even at this early date, the prospects of a winning football eleven by John Glaze seem brighter, as the men will have more confidence and there will be a strong nucleus for the building of the team, as many of last year's men return to school.

On Sunday occurred the death of Mrs. Adelaide S. Howeroff at the age of 76 years and 3 months, at the home of Mrs. Mary Churchill on High street. She was born in Dover, the daughter of Valentine and Sophia (Pray) Nutter, and had been a resident here at the home of Mrs. Churchill for the last few years. Funeral services will be held at Dover. She was the widow of David Howeroff.

The body of Minnie Mills, wife of Leroy Mills, aged 28 years, was brought here from Framingham, Mass., on Monday for burial. The funeral services were held at St. Michael's church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. John E. Finen.

The regular meeting of Gilman Grange was held on Monday evening, conducted by the three graces. It was ladies' night and a large number were present. The evening's entertainment took the form of a flower carnival. The committee in charge consisted of Misses Helen Brown and Mattie Taylor and Mrs. Omer S. Rowe.

A force of workmen is now busy putting in the block signal system between here and the end of the double line between Newmarket and Durham. The system has been completed from here to Boston, and it is expected that the distance from here to the end of the double line at Durham will be completed by the time that the summer schedule goes into effect on June 20.

ALWAYS TIRED

Run-down, Depressed and "Blue"

How many people do you know who never seem rested? Who always seem tired? They look tired? Their eyes are dull and they have no ambition? They seem to "catch" every ailment that comes along? They are full of aches and pains and complaints? Sleep doesn't seem to rest them, food is not relished? They are miserable, though they can't tell exactly why?

This is not a whim; there is something wrong. This chronic ill-health is caused by stomach and liver trouble. We believe very few people can be sick if their digestion is in good order. We know that "Kickapoo Sagwa," the Indian Vegetable Remedy will cure Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Mr. H. J. Goodwin, 61 Arcade, Providence, R. I., wrote to us September 11, 1906, saying:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend your Kickapoo Sagwa, which has been of such great benefit to me. For years I have been run-down and weak, caused by overwork and other trouble. I grew very despondent after trying many remedies without any relief. I was in despair when I started on Sagwa."

"After taking the first bottle I felt immediate relief, and have been taking it since, off and on, as needed. Now I am enjoying the best of health, all owing to Kickapoo Sagwa. I think it is the best remedy in the world. I cannot thank you too much for it, and I recommend it to all those who have suffered as I have. Yours Gratefully."

Another man from Rhode Island, a tea and coffee merchant at Central Falls, Mr. Omer Bedard, wrote October 23rd, 1906, saying that Kickapoo Sagwa "is really marvelous. It is almost too good to be true, but facts are facts, for my wife, having suffered with acute dysentery for nearly twelve years, is, after taking only two bottles of Kickapoo Sagwa, 100 per cent better. She feels better and is better. With gratefulness."

If you wish to test Sagwa before purchasing, we will send you a trial bottle free. The Kickapoo Remedies are for sale at all drug stores. The Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Clintonville, Conn.

The Worsted company is to pay five per cent on the cost of the building.

BURGLARS GO DOWN EAST

Boston and Portland Police Think Four Men Are Bad

Portland, June 8.—The Portland police received a warning from the police of Boston that four suspicious persons, supposed to be well known burglars and safe blowers, had come to Portland by boat with an automobile and a chauffeur.

The four men and the machine and chauffeur arrived by boat on Monday and the chauffeur on reaching here said he didn't like the way the men were behaving and he telephoned the New England sales company of Boston, by whom he is employed for instructions. He was told to take the machine back to Boston and did so.

The four men left the city on an early train for Rockland. The Portland police were told that these men were known to have planned to make a tour of Maine in an automobile, blowing country store safes and even planned for some larger breaks.

AT DARTMOUTH

In the final game of the season, characterized on the part of Dartmouth by reckless base running and pitifully weak support, Dartmouth lost to Pennsylvania on Monday by a 7 to 5 score. Ekstrom replaced Mitchell on the slab in the sixth and while he pitched a good game, he received no support. But two of the five hits made off him were clean singles, the other three being the worst kind of scratch hits.

FOOLED FIRE DEPARTMENT

Yesterday afternoon at about 125 o'clock John H. Blanchard notified the firemen at the Central fire station that there was a big blaze near the Silver street bridge of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad and that Mr. Williams' barn was in danger of being destroyed. The firemen responded promptly but were unable to find any trace of fire in that section. The smoke that was the cause of calling out the firemen quite evidently came from the train that passes over the Dover and Portsmouth railroad at about the above stated time.—Dover Democrat.

Here is proof in Portsmouth: Joseph C. Pettigrew, 12 Islington St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from backache or kidney complaint. My first experience with this remedy took place about three years ago. At that time my back ached a great deal, I had dizzy spells and was bothered by a blurring of my eyesight. I finally decided that I had kidney trouble and procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's drug store. I had taken them but a short time when there was a great improvement in my condition. ## THE TARIFF FIGHT

The "Insurgents" Have Mapped Out a Vigorous Campaign

Washington, June 8.—Nine Republican senators have practically made up their minds to vote against the tariff bill unless concessions which they do not expect are made. These senators are Beveridge of Indiana, Bristow of Kansas, Clapp and Nelson of Minnesota, Gamble and Crawford of South Dakota, Dooliver and Cummings of Iowa and La Follette of Wisconsin. Possibly one of the Nebraska Senators may go with the nine. The decision of these Republican senators to refuse to support a bill which they feel does not carry out their party's pledge to the people will not endanger the measure's passage through the Senate. Mr. Aldrich will still have votes enough without calling on the Democrats, but the probability is that he will get at least two Democratic votes for his bill, those of these senators from Louisiana. If the nine senators mentioned do vote against the bill they will do it because of the hope that their protest expressed in that way may strengthen the arm of President Taft, who is expected to use his influence after the bill goes to conference to obtain substantial reductions in some of the schedules. That the fight is being waged by the downward revisionists in the dominant party is to be carried out to the last ditch is certain. If the conference Committee should not make the reductions for which the progressive senators have been contending the downward revisionist Republicans in the House of Representatives will be encouraged to oppose the adoption of the conference report. Apparently a marked change in the sentiment of the house has taken place since the bill passed that body early in April. Many Republican representatives who supported the bill are now saying privately that they will not vote for a conference report which does hold rates down to the level of the House bill. Some of them say they would not dare to vote for such a bill as Mr. Aldrich is getting through and ask for renomination and election. Before the conference Committee goes to work Chairman Payne of the Ways and Means Committee will know what he must obtain in the way of reductions if he expects to secure the adoption of the conference report. The hope of the downward revisionists is that with President Taft behind the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee something really may be accomplished. And yet no well-informed person is very sanguine of the progressive winning of a substantial victory.

Dr. Pierce's Health Talks

The miracle of motherhood is often overshadowed by the misery of motherhood. The great functional changes which are incident to child bearing leave their mark for life on many a mother. Some women offer up their lives as a sacrifice on the altar of motherhood. A far greater number live on in ceaseless misery. Their strength fails, their beauty fades, they have no ambition and no enjoyment in life. To every woman

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Offers escape from the pains and perils of motherhood. Taken during the period of waiting and anticipation this medicine strengthens the body, nourishes the nerves, and prepares the whole womanly system for the coming of baby. It also insures an abundant supply of nourishment for the child.

The mind feels bright and buoyant. There is no anxiety, no dread, but in its place a happy anticipation of the baby's coming, which counts for the future happiness of the child unborn. The use of "Favorite Prescription" makes the baby's advent easy, and gives abundant vitality to nursing mothers.

There is no alcohol or habit-forming drugs in "Favorite Prescription." It is a purely vegetable medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for weak and sickly women. All its ingredients printed on its bottle-wrapper.

The larger success of doctor or druggist is never won by putting love for the dollar above duty to the sick. Protecting the sick, giving them what they ask for when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is called for, will enrich him in respect, if it does not swell to the utmost his profits.

THE KETTLEDRUM.

It is an instrument That is Pretty Difficult to Handle.

The kettledrum has been so far improved that it has a pitch; in fact, it contains the large range of four notes. It is, as its name shows, a copper kettle, or basin, covered over with skin, which can be tightened or loosened by screws placed around the edge. Drums of this shape were used by the Romans, and even earlier by the Greeks and Etruscans. But they were not known in western Europe before the crusades.

Although it may appear so, the kettledrum is not at all an easy instrument to manage, for in order to get each of the four notes the player has to turn all the screws and adjust the parchment anew. For this reason kettledrums are often used in pairs, one tuned to the keynote, the other to the fourth below. In this way the drummer has always the two chief notes in the scale to work upon, and if the composer has not exacted much from him he will have quite an easy time. But when a change of key is approaching it is quite exciting to watch the drummer screwing and unscrewing the drum and lightly tapping to hear if the pitch is true, and if we recollect that he often has to tune his drum while the whole orchestra is lifting up its voice we realize that he must be no mean musician; that he must possess an exquisitely sensitive and well trained ear and a steady hand and nerve as well.—Jessie K. MacDonald in St. Nicholas.

MODERN ROYALTY.

Hopelessly Handicapped by the Progress of Mankind.

What is a modern king for if not to set a pattern of the brave, courteous, urbane gentleman and make a comely figurehead for state occasions? If he fails there of what earthly use is he? He cannot govern. He dare not attempt to rule. He is so outclassed in professional training by his own generals that he would never be tolerated as an active commander in chief in time of war. He is hopelessly below the requirements of the age if he dreams of leadership in art or learning, literature or science. If he cannot make a brave showing of the virtues and graces of more primitive times when he gets a chance he fails utterly. The truth is that modern royalty is handicapped hopelessly by the progress of mankind. The age is far too complex to enable a king to play the part he is cast for in the great drama of the world's work and struggles. He would be more than human if he could live up to the demands of his birth and the traditions of his vocation. Kings were formerly tragedies when they were evil and great benefactors when they were both good and wise. Now they are perishing near the border line of comedy, which slides easily down into farce.—Cleveland Leader.

Sneezing.

Sneezing has an extensive folklore to many countries. Sometimes the act is considered ominous of good and sometimes of evil. Among the Jews it has always been regarded at an appropriate moment, such as the conclusion of a bargain, as propitiatory, and a belief still lingers in many parts of the country that the regular habit of sneezing, particularly after meals, is conducive to longevity and a precaution against fevers. The old English custom of saying "God bless you" when a person sneezed, so as to avoid evil consequences, has its counterpart in many far distant parts of the globe. The early settlers in Brazil found the sneezer saluted with "God preserve you" while in Fiji it was customary to remark, "May you live!" In superstitious Suffolk there is a sneezing tariff—once a wish, twice a kiss, thrice a letter and four times a disappointment.—London Sphere.

The Water Clock.

The earliest application of the clesydra principle to produce motion was by Isang Hing, A. D. 126, who made an "orrey" representing the apparent motion of the heavenly bodies around the earth, which was kept going by dropping water. In the sixth century of the Christian era an instrument was in use in China which indicated the course of time by the weight of water as it gradually came from the beak of a bird and was received in a vessel on a balance, every pound representing a one-hundredth part of the day of twenty-four hours. About this time mercury began to be employed in clesydras instead of water.

Victim of Circumstances.

"That Englishman is a funny chap," remarked the hat salesman in the big hotel; "he hasn't been out of his room today."

"No; he is a victim of circumstances," nodded the coffee salesman.

"Victim of circumstances?"

"Yes; he put his shoes outside his door last night, according to the English custom, and somebody threw them at a cat down the alleyway."—Chicago News.

SPARING HER NERVES.

A Careful, Considerate Visitor and Her Timid Friend.

The mistakes which were plentifully sprinkled along Mrs. Comer's career were never regretted by any one more than by Mrs. Comer herself. "I used the very best judgment I had," she said, referring to one unfortunate occurrence, "but, as usual, everything went wrong."

"You see, I went to Greenville in the morning with Mrs. Hobart, intending to go on to Nashua, but I changed my mind when the weather turned cool and spent the day with Anna Woods, going home at dusk. I'd forgotten my little bag with my key in it, so I went right over to Mrs. Hobart's."

"She'd gone down the road to Mrs. Cole's, but I found her key behind the left hand blind and went right in."

"The house was dark, but I said to myself, 'I won't light a lamp for fear of scaring her, a timid woman, living all alone, as she does.' So I sat in the dark till I heard her coming up the walk."

"When she found the door was unlocked she gave a kind of a gasp, so I stepped forward and then, long as I had a cold so my voice didn't sound natural and I was afraid I'd sound scared, she being so timid, I put out my hand and laid it on her arm."

"And, if you'll believe me," finished Mrs. Comer plaintively, "she fell right over in a faint and cut her forehead on the edge of the rocking chair, and I thought I'd never bring her to!"

"There's no use trying to be careful with a woman like her."—Your's Companion.

CIRCUS CHILDREN.

The Making of Acrobats Begins at an Early Age.

It is nothing unusual for the larger circuses to carry thirty and forty children, ranging all the way from mere babies to boys and girls of fifteen and sixteen years of age. The majority are traveling with their parents, both the father and mother doing daily duty in the ring, and while often they are vain to follow in the steps of their elders they are seldom allowed to perform in public.

It is a common belief among circus men that the performer whose training is not started until after the age of six will seldom make a distinctive record. Following the afternoon show I often saw groups of boys, some of whom could not have been over four and five years old, practicing rudimentary somersaults and hand springs, while their parents looked on with a gratified smile. These were the families of the circus aristocracy, who treasure the records of their ancestors with the pride of a son in his father's sword and who see no more inspiring calling for their own children than that of the great white canvas.

Not that their education is neglected in other respects. Several of the families often hire an instructor—perhaps one of the performers who has the time and ability for such work—to coach their children in the standard studies. One circus has a traveling school for the youngsters. If they are to be acrobats, they are to be educated acrobats.—Bohemian Magazine.

A Sponge That Works.

"Here is a clever notion—a fog bell," said an old New England fisherman.

On a bleak, gray afternoon they stood at the seashore—the old man and his city cousin from Boston. A great bell hung from a scaffold, and under a metal cover hung a great sponge.

"This here machinery is wound up regular," the fisherman explained, "and this here sponge is kept under cover so as the rain can't get at it. In dry weather, natch'ally, the sponge is dry and tight; in foggy, though, it gets heavy with fog satisfactions, just heavy enough for to press down the lever that starts the machinery a-going. Then, ding-dong, ding-dong, sounds the bell in the fog, saving many a fisherman from treck on this rock bound coast!"—Exchange.

At the opening of the Morgan restaurant at the Brooklyn navy yard on Monday, the principal speakers were Rear Admiral C. F. Goodrich and John Mitchell.

While the applause from officers in the front row seats was hearty, hisses were heard from the rear, and when in the course of his remarks Admiral Goodrich referred to the reorganization while commandant which, he said, made possible the restaurant, hissing was renewed and kept up for several seconds.

John Mitchell said the establishment of such a restaurant and the interest taken in welfare work by Miss Morgan and Mrs. Archibald Alexander argued well for the working people of New York. He cautioned workers of the yard to be obedient to rules.

A COURAGEOUS ACT

Marine Made Good Stop of two Wild Runaway Horses

On Monday afternoon a pair of horses attached to a hack came up State street at a lively pace, having taken fright somewhere near the water front.

The animals were out for some damage but for the fearless act of a marine from the navy yard, who was passing along the street at the time. The soldier certainly did a good turn and took a great risk of his own life to hold up the mad horses.

When near the corner of State and Penhallow street the soldier got his eye on the horses and rushing into the street, he jumped for the hack steps, regardless of the breakneck speed of the animals and landed in safety.

He was quickly on the seat, with the reins in hand and checked the flight of the horses in jig time.

His name was not learned, but whoever he was he certainly performed a most heroic act in holding up the runaway.

Somebody Wants a Change and Got It at August Hett's

Somebody looking perhaps for a change in clothing struck something better than a bargain sale on Sunday last when he stripped the scarecrow in a corn field on the farm of August Hett.

The complete rig of the dummy was removed from the frame work and adopted by some hobo who cared not whether the outfit was stamped with a union labor tag or not.

The owner is considering whether to adopt another combination of rags and tatters or put the real live man on duty there as the corn is liable to go the same way the dummy went when it is time for that vegetable to appear on the dinner table.
